Its another late night, you might be wondering what's this package you received You don't know how you got it...
But on the front it says 'give to Stephanie'

I talked to you a couple times while all the other boys were inebriated
The blue glow of the screen shines your pretty face where I'm fixated

Do you feel your ears keep ringing when the night finally ends...
Like a bell. Very soon I will see you again.

They've fallen in love with you,
Cause your smile shines right through every crowd that you're in.
I can't help but to notice you, It feels just so hard to avoid...

The dimples in your chin formed a song that I finally had to sing
The ovals in your eyes waste me more than all the shots that you might bring.
Yes they did.
The practice my patience when I saw you at foundation that a clue
Too loud for conversation so I'll maybe hope to see you at Whole Foods

As for now this song is the best I could do to get through to you Through the frowns and the smoke babe I think you're the truth..

They've fallen in love with you,
Cause your smile shines right through every crowd that you're in.
I can't help but to notice you, and I feel it's so hard to avoid...

And I know that I've eyes on you

Best thing is that you don't know who I promise that you won't be dissapointed
I Just want to hang out with you
And this song is the very best I can do...
