she grabbed her coat walked out the door she said "i won't take this no more" she left the only home she knew ledt searching for that something true she'd never known love to be pure that's why she's always looking for more

tonight's your night
I'm not going to fight
this feeling any longer

she's all alone
left out in the cold nowhere to turn she's helpless well You found her there answered her prayer You'd always fill that hole she felt she'd never known a love like Yours a love that would give its life for her

I'm not going to fight

I'm not going to fight

we're all just like that no use in hiding
any longer
