Ive been there since day one I hope that you'll understand that I want to be there in the end Ive been up day and night and it still just feels so right cuz girl theres something I just gotta have Like fishing tongues on the beach side and turning amber as the sun starts to rise what is that thing you find in me Now all my friends they cant stand you You or them who should I choose Im only 17 give me a break

Now everything is falling around you I have a habit to bad to lose
You said you want me sensitive but I'm just to hard core Shes had her fill but she wants more

But every time I breath and every time I dream there is something that says that you are there So just turn around and look down cuz in your heart is where I'll always be Push you out into moonlight and watch the stars as they light light up your eyes Hope the cops dont bring it to an end now on your record it might look bad but I'm just scared from the look of your dad He'll kill me if I see you again
