Now you're gone I'm all alone
With my head in my hand
Seems like time stands still unknown
How to keep our moments

So many years have passed by
So many words have been unsaid
Though many dreams were unfulfilled
I got one still in my head

(It feels) like a perfect gift between us
Reminding me how to live
If it's dark and I search for light
I know you're always by my side
Like in times we spent as special friends
You always helped me through
As you left a part of your life in me
I lost one in you

Didn't want to seem so weak
Feelings left me cross-eyed
Stagnation found it's way in
But my memories won't die

So many years have passed by
So many words have been unsaid
Though many dreams were unfulfilled
I got one still in my head

(It feels) like a perfect gift between us
Reminding me how to live
If it's dark and I search for light
I know you're always by my side
Like in times we spent as special friends
You always helped me through
As you left a part of your life in me
I lost one in you

And I remember all you said
That night before you've gone
Time has cured my wounds
But I still wake up calling your name

Though I know that you died

So many moments have passed me by
So many words have been unsaid
So many dreams were unfulfilled

(But) I got one still in my head
And that's the perfect gift between us
That always helps me through
Thank you for leaving a part of your life in me
I hope to see you soon
