Something

Believe in your own destiny
This gift's for you and not for me
Then you saw the eyes of your own best friend
Admiring what they see
When they appeared your dreams were dead
They won the war that you once led
They forced you back to your own island
The hopes inside your head

I wanna feel something
I wanna live
I wanna feel something
Now is it my fault that you will never fail

All feelings lost except your hate
You tried to change but oh so late
They raped your dreams again, again
So you resigned to your new fate

You lick your wounds, you stay in bed
And you complain that they're ahead you're so damn sure that you were right with everything you said

I wanna feel something
I wanna live
I wanna feel something
Now is it my fault that you will never fail

Make me suffer
Under your consequence
When it's over
All your behaviour, now all your behaviour is Wrong

I wanna feel something
I wanna live
I wanna feel something
Now is it my fault that you will never fail

Make me suffer
Under your consequence
When it's over
All your behaviour is wrong
