[Verse 1]

Look how stressed that I've became, it's been nothing but pain

Cause you are not the same, somehow I became the blame

The confusion in my brain, cause you been hard to tame

Dramatically you've changed, too hard for me to obtain It's like the coldest winter ever, ice all on my window Can you talk to me a little without mixin' up your signals Every second that I'm with you, like your shoulder's gettin' cold

It's hard to touch when your temperature's droppin' lower

(And lower and lower and lower...)

[Chorus]

Tell me when did your love fall down So low below when your heart is so froze When did your temperature fall down below zero Hard to love me when your heart is stone cold How could you love me if your heart is stone cold

[Verse 2]

Last thing I remember, you told me that you hated me Said I was a monster, that's the way that you created me

If our love is ill, I just pray that it gets well Cause I can see my breathe, every time I exhale It's the coldest winter ever, I'm just sittin' asking questions

Can you hear me is this thing on, you ain't makin' no expressions

You used to adore me, now you sit 'n' ignore me, are you breathin'

[Chorus]

Tell me when did your love fall down So low below when your heart is so froze When did your temperature fall down below zero Hard to love me when your heart is stone cold How could you love me if your heart is stone cold

Now baby I swear there's ice water runnin' through your veins And if nothing's gonna change then get away from me

[Chorus] When did your love fall down So low below when your heart is so froze When did your temperature fall down below zero Hard to love me when your heart is stone cold How could you love me if your heart is stone cold

When did your love fall down When did your love fall down
