"Drift Away"

I've been up since yesterday
Now it's time to drift away
We got nothing left to say
We just kinda drift away
Sunglasses and advil
Last night was mad real
Sunglasses and advil
Last night was mad real
Sunglasses and advil
Last night was mad real
Sunglasses and advil
Now this night is almost done
And we're hiding from the sun
Still the cigarettes are burning
And our sinuses are numb
Your mascara's getting smudged
And your friend looks kind of tired
It was live a couple hours
Now it's slipping in asylum
In the end it always falls apart
We lit the night up
Now we're fading like a falling star
Starring at the wall like it's modern art
Touched by angels where the devil left his calling card
Call a card, let me get the fuck up out of here
These poppy dreams that I'm having Quickly turn into nightmares
And every time the lights stares at me I'm paranoid
Serotonin and got me running like an errand boy
I just wanna get by back home
It always ends the same way
Just grab your coat it's time to roll
I've been up since yesterday
Now it's time to drift away
We just kinda drift away
Sunglasses and advil
Last night was mad real
Sunglasses and advil
Last night was mad real
Sunglasses and advil

Last night was mad real
Sunglasses and advil
