Monkees- You just may be the one

All men must
have someone,
have someone
Who'll never take advantage of the love bright as the sun.

Someone to understand them, and you just may be the one

All men must
have someone,
have someone
Who'll never take for granted all the pleasures and the fun

Someone to stand beside them
and you just may be the one

I saw as you walked by the love right in your eyes I know I must try to win you more than as a friend I starting near the end and here I go again...

All men must
have someone,
have someone
who'll never take advantage
of the love bright as the sun
Someone to stand beside them
and you just may be the one

Someone to understand them and you just may be the one
