Watching time go by
The approach seems so slow
As I sit and watch it fade
Moments turn to yesterday

Now it's gone
Looking back where did it go
Time has seemed
To quickly gather speed

Time and time again I watch each moment fade
Drifting bye
slip away
It all Turns To Yesterday

Looking back
At all my wasted years
Time I've spent
Was so drained of my own needs

Here I stand
To face another day
Have I learned
To chase down all my dreams

Time and time again I watch each moment fade
Drifting bye
Time and time again it's time I can't regain
slip away
Drift away
It all Turns To Yesterday

I see the hourglass and know my time is short
It's much to heavy I strain to lift my cross
I can't refill my days, they are too far and few
My aging eyes just watch the time slip by

Slipping by...drift away
It all Turns To Yesterday

I see the hourglass and know my time is short
It's much to heavy I lift this cross

I can't refill my days, they are too far and few
My aging eyes just watch the time slip by

As time slips by...Â.....
