All the world's a stage
And all the people there
Together in one place
Playing games of hide and seek in the dark

So duck and cover boy
Find a place where you can hide your pile of toys
And the monsters, they will come to make their noise
Turn your back and I will take these fears away

Fell behind the line
A cage for two good minds
So shame your family's pride
Turn yourself into the thing you can despise

So duck and cover boy
Find a place where you can hide your pile of toys
And the monsters, they will come to make their noise
Turn your back and I will care for all your pain
Close your mind and I will take these threads away

Mmm

It's time to come and take these fears away
It's time to come and take these fears away
