You run from yourself
crying for a reason.
With thoughts in your head thoughts are just for losers.

Why waste time
looking at the finish line
you've already crossed it.

You fight for your health thinking it will save you.
So run from yourself
maybe they'll believe you.

Why waste time
looking at the finish line
couldn't cross yourself again until you change
you're already gone.

Why, waste your time
staring at this changing line?
Why waste your time
looking at some changing line that's gone?
