Folding all the hours of all the days until I sleep
Leaving all the eyes until it holds until another dream

This is what happens when you fall asleep with the lights on

Hold its head under water

And as I float I'll be thankful
And if I sink I'll be grateful

This is what happens when you fall asleep with the lights on

Folding up the thoughts of all the things I need to keep Leaving all the days behind the walls of this retreat

Hold its head under water

And as I float I'll be thankful
And if I sink I'll be grateful
