Dusted aside with sweet songs of promise
Waiting for more
And I heard a saying stopping me from praying for all that I've lost

This life is so damn beautiful
As I'm stuck here with leeches
My heart's pumping weaker

This life is so damn beautiful
As I'm stuck here with leeches
My heart's pumping weaker

She does not regret being played for a fool by a man that she trusted, a man that she knew But who is to say they won't do the same for someone they love and adore
Fragments of lust unconceived by her trust, like a web of a spider in the midst of a dusk
Restless and pale, a soul up for sale
For anyone caring to bid

This life is so damn beautiful
As I'm stuck here with leeches
My heart's pumping weaker

This life is so damn beautiful
As I'm stuck here with leeches
My heart's pumping weaker

And with all her time
Memories quite sublime
Dwells in past
This lonely past

And within her dreams
She can safely weep without the shame
This awful shame

Picture a place where the sun never shines
Where cockroaches scuttle
As inmates decline

This is the place we find her embraced
With all of the memories of him

So she won't give up on hope, even to wait for him, even to die for him
So she won't give up on hope, even to die for him, even so she can die for him
So she won't give up on hope, even to wait for him,
even so she can die for him
So she won't give up on hope, even to wait for him,
even so she can die for him

Just tell me the truth
I don't want more lies
'Cause every night
I dream of your eyes

Just tell me the truth
'Cause every night

Just tell me the truth
'Cause every night
I dream of your eyes

Tell me the truth
'Cause every night
I dream of your eyes
