

Daniel Franklin

"Thank You For The Memories"

Visit "Thank You For The Memories" on MotoLyrics.com

I tried to learn to live with unanswered questions
Been shouldering the aches for all these years There's stranger in the mirror he's staring back at me
The ship has left the bay sailing away with my identity
What have I done to myself? This can't be my fate
Can I save my soul before it breaks?
Time still ticks for the broken let's find some closure
And throw in the towel to save ourselves from a disaster

Thank you for the memories
We were never meant to be
It's time we go our separate ways
Thank you for being a part of me
We were never struck by cupid
But I know we'll find somebody, to love

I bit the bullet and now I'm somebody else
But with God's grace tonight, make peace with myself
My mind committed a sin, shutting down my heart
Now my heart's fighting back to resuscitate itself

Thank you for the memories
We were never meant to be
It's time we go our separate ways
Thank you for being a part of me
We were never struck by cupid
But I know we'll find somebody, to love

Visit Daniel Franklin page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.