You are the purple Throne and the bloodred sky

You have no name but the thousands we have given to you (yet none of them glorifies you more than silence)

...made of might and sorrow...

My red grinning wrists call you
They know your name
They are your name

Your excellency, you are the rotting factor in me

You are the mist behind their backs

Life is my grave
There is no salvation only the purple Throne in a black room behind the fucking nightmare mirrors of life

You are the inevitable and I speak to you with an unknown language words about nothingness voices without words mouths with no tongues

You are the inevitable
King 666
You have no name nor language
You are the purple throne and the bloodred sky and I call you with my knife in front of the nightmare mirrors of life
