She's so afraid, that girl,
Thinking that she needs me in her World
That somehow with the First wind I'll be gone
But she's wrong, yeah

She's so afraid of me,
Telling her one day I wanna be free
That I will drown as the waves come crashing in
But I learned to swim

I won't leave her today,
I won't leave her tomorrow,
I didn't leave her yesterday,
The don't-leave-me-any-days, I couldn't leave her alone

She's got her eyes on me,
But she's not really using them to see
She's always in the dark out where she stands
And I'm her man

won't leave her today,
I won't leave her tomorrow,
didn't leave her yesterday,
The don't-leave-me-any-days, that I couldn't leave her
alone

That I could so easily, turn this thing around on her She doesn't even know how much love is surrounding her

Yeah

I won't leave her today,
I won't leave her tomorrow,
I didn't leave her yesterday,
The don't-leave-me-any-days, that I couldn't leave her
alone
