Thank You

Predicting moments had come
To obtain what we want
But unsure of what we need
Is in our hands that we don't see
Trying to beat the reality

Not tired but healthier than before
I have it all figured out
I almost do it

While we are growing
Our lives can't be divine
While we are listening
We make choices
At a time
As a wheel running
In my mind

Telling me what to
And what not to
Just to make my
Dreams feel good
Loosing myself
In this
Kind of way
Isn't just the perfect day

Thank you, thank you
For showing me
The reality that
We are living in
