There's a killer knocking at my front door
I don't know if I should let him in
There's a sense of impending doom pushing down on me
I saw my face in the valley of a thousand ghosts
I put my hands up to God and I pray don't do this
There's a sense of impending doom pushing down on me

If I make it out would you stay alive?
If I stay tonight would it change your mind?
You were never what you wanted to be
You never what I needed for me
If you know then lets go back
You were never what you wanted to be
You never what I needed for me
And til I get my act over
I'm not into you

There's a killer knocking at my front door
I don't know if I should let him in
There's a sense of impending doom pushing down on me
I saw my face in the valley of a thousand ghosts
I put my hands up to God and I pray don't do this
There's a sense of impending doom pushing down on me

If I make it out would you stay alive?
If I stay tonight would it change my mind?
You were never what you wanted to be
You never what I needed for me
If you know then lets go back
You were never what you wanted to be
You never what I needed for me
And til I get my act over
I'm not into you

Gold digger or heartbreaker?
