- DILDO WARHEADS

I hardly understand how we did get that close
It must have been the drinks feelings we had to show
Can you also hear what's said
How good friends go out of their head
Don't you call me out here anymore
You showed me only half of the respect I need
I pretended not to care too much for it
What's the offer I have made
None because I could have faked
I just had a great time making love to you
Don't you call me out here anymore
Every lesson's gone
I guess you couldn't say goodbye to your old friends
At least that is what my advisors said
But I don't really care what's gone
I am proud of what I've shown
People should respect somebody's good times
Don't you call me out here anymore
Every lesson's gone
