Out of the blue, an angel calls for you.
And while they're by your side, reality changes for you.

Deep inside your mind, the angel sings to you.
They'll never let go of you, you're flying now.

There is someone just waiting for you down the road,
They'll catch up with you, and they won't let go.
There is someone just craving for you by their side,
They'll find you and call you their own.

Keep trust in your heart, don't blame it for the beating it took.
Oh there's someone for all, it's the way it always was meant to be.

Deep inside your mind, the angel sings to you.

They'll never let go of you, you're flying now.

There is someone just waiting for you down the road,
They'll catch up with you, and they won't let go.
There is someone just craving for you by their side,
They'll find you and call you their own.

Out from the blue, an angel calls for you.

There is someone just waiting for you down the road,
They'll catch up with you, and they won't let go.
There is someone just craving for you by their side,
They'll find you and call you their own.
