I know you're story because i've seen you before
It was like deja vu
When you walked through the doors
Like a movie i've seen a million times
Where i can tell you all the lines
They say history repeats itself
I know how things are gonna turn out
My brain says no look the other way
But i don't listen anyway

Everyone has a different theory
What they see is different from me
Everyone thinks you're an authority
They say, Johnny Lockheart you're too good for me

Johnny Lockheart-you're no good for me
Johnny Lockheart-but it's plain to see
Johnny Lockheart-that you were meant to be with me

It's a lost cause where no one wins
And i know what kind of mess i'm in
You always seem to be the talk of the town
You're bound to turn things upside down
They say history repeats itself
I know how things are gonna turn out
My brain says no look the other way
But i don't listen anyway

[Chorus]

I guess this is how things are gonna be
Like a love conspiracy that keeps coming after me
Once it pulls me in i'm trapped and i can't get away
So what if it doesn't make much sense
They tell me to look at the evidence
But i just don't care what they say

[Chorus]
