A fresh coat of winter stretches beneath the postcard
Sky
Broken pieces of dawn may fade as the sun sets in the Night
The scene looks like a movie set all perfectly
Displayed
Well I feel like summer at a thanksgiving parade

Maybe this isn't the time or place
Maybe this is just time we waste
I just wish that I could see your face
For just one moment we could get back what took so
Little time to be
Erased... erased

My temperature is rising now hot tar beneath my feet
Cars passing my waving palm as my hope yields to Retreat
Thought turn to thoughts of you when the past was less
Unknown
I'm more of a stranger than anyone I've never known

Maybe this isn't the time or place
Maybe this is just time we waste
I just wish that I could see your face
For just one moment we could get back what took so
Little time to be
Erased Erased

Gray Sky collecting clouds for a midnight winter rain
Traveling in familiar circles but the faces don't fit
The names
I can't seem to get past the point of nothing left to Loose
I feel like a misprint in yesterdays news

Maybe this isn't the time or place
Maybe this is just time we waste

I just wish that I could see your face
For just one moment we could get back what took so

Little time to be
Erased Erased
