All we know is change,
And friends, faces, and names.
That's why I'm falling apart and dangerous.
I never know where to turn.
I mean for all that I know,
We're all on our own.
We're leaning until we fall.

But somebody's got to fall...

And we're jumping to know the truth,
But we're lying to say to you.
We're so far from the words tonight,
That could then break the wall we hide.

I love to watch some people read,
Just knowing you're learning everything. (There is to know about you.)
That's why I'm falling apart and dangerous.
I never know where to turn.
I mean for all that I know,
We're all on our own.
We're leaning until we fall.

But somebody's got to fall...

And you're jumping to know the truth,
But we're lying to say to you.
We're so far from the words tonight,
That could then break the wall we hide.

Anyway.
Anyway.

I want it anyway you know it.
I want it anyway you know it.
I want it anyway you know it.
I want it anyway you know it.

I want it anyway you know it.

And we're jumping to know the truth,
But we're lying to say to you.
We're so far from the words tonight,
That could then break the wall we hide.

And we're jumping to know th truth,
But we're lying to say to you.
We're so far from the words tonight,
That could then break the wall we hide.
