Alright, now take one look at me,
'Cause it's the last you'll ever see,
Because I'm leaving,
Tonight.

And just think about it.
You'll never have to be,
Embarrassed in front of your friends and family,
Again, so enjoy it.

And the air will be better.
It will feel much thinner.
There'll be no more excuses,
And no more covering up your face.

And I'm gonna runaway with my baby.
Get married and maybe someday,
We'll have kids,
That you'll never meet.

And I'm gonna tell them stories,
Of how that grandpop would bathe,
In the glory of all his power,
And use his fake friends.

And see, the air will be better.
It will feel much thinner.
It will feel like heaven.
It will feel so good when I am gone.

Now see, I don't know what you think.
You're just a kid; only 18!!
Where do you think you're going?
See, you got nothing to stand on.
You don't have a bed; a place to live.
And you'll be wishing,
That you never left.

And the air will be thicker.
It will be hard to breathe sometimes,
You won't know what hit you.

You'll be sad and lonely before you know it!

Now don't go make a decision,
That's gonna lead your life down,
A collision course of failure.
But you're a grownup now, you're 18.
Just don't come running back to me,
When you need something.
My door is locked!!!

And the air will be humid.
It will give you headaches.
It will make you sweat.
It will be a mistake if you go,
And I won't be there to cover up your tracks.

Dad, I'm leaving tonight.
You can't scare me anymore.
I don't need this in my life.
I don't need it anymore.

Dad, I'm leaving tonight.
You can't scare me anymore.
I don't need this in my life.
I don't need it anymore.

Goodbye.
