I know that you know that we know
As plain as the stars that are shining above
And I know that you know I wait for the morning
I wake up beside you, my love.
And all of the things that you thought you should tell me
Are all that I needed to know.
You told me our love was eternal;
Eternity's such a long time left to go.
Two crazy lovers we must find a way,
Hold on now, baby, I am on my way.
Book us a ticket on the midnight train,
You never know, darling, they might never see us
again.

'Cos I know that you know that we know
As plain as the stars that are shining above
And I know that you know I wait for the morning
I wake up beside you, my love.
It seems that the world has been waiting to show us
A secret it's kept for so long
And, oh, how I know that it's love that has found us,
It's found us right where we belong.

Two crazy lovers we must find a way,
Hold on now, baby, I am on my way.
Book us a ticket on the midnight train,
You never know, darling, they might never see us
again.

They might never see us again,
They might never see us again.

Two crazy lovers we must find a way,
Hold on now, baby, I am on my way.
Book us a ticket on the midnight train,
You never know, darling, they might never see us
again.

Two crazy lovers we must find a way,
Hold on now, baby, I am on my way.

Book us a ticket on the midnight train,
You never know, darling, they might never see us
again.

They might never see us again,
They might never see us again
