When the sun goes down,
And the clouds all frown,
Night has begun for the sunset.

See it with your eyes,
Earth's re-energized,
By the sun's rays everyday.

Take a look up there, planets everywhere.

When the sun goes down,
And the clouds all frown,
Night has begun for the sunset.
Shadows on the ground,
Never make a sound,
Fading away in the sunset.

Night has now become day for everyone.

I can see it all, from this great height,
I can feel the sun, slipping out of sight.
And the world still goes on, through the night.
