Visit "Open Arms" on MotoLyrics.com

I've been walking down this road, and can't seem to find my way, stumbling through the dark, how did I end up this way, and when your light's shine through I will find where I need to go, with open arms I see you now please show me where to go.

I'll be following the light that will take me straight to you, it's as clear as day now and i can see through, and up above me I see your angels are all around me, when you take me into your arms is something i'll never know.

Open Arms are waiting for me, open arms showing me what i need, open arms they will drive me home, can you give me a fresh new start with your open arms.
