In midair and floating off to space
I'm moving in
Your hair is falling all around my face
Like a parachute
I'm breathing in, you're breathing out the same
We give and take
And let the water fall on the flame
It's not burning out

I'll keep you warm
Dancing in a downpour
And I will hold
Your body slowly turning
I'll keep you warm
Dancing in a downpour
Breathe it in, take it off
And soak our skin

She's in a town that holds a lonely road
And the night is falling
There's a road that follows to a home
And the sky is heavy
In the home she's in a lonely room
With music playing
Can she hear my heart coming through
On the door between

Maybe I'll find you
Maybe I won't
Baby, I'll try to
Even if I don't
You are what I never knew I needed
We're almost there
