Pictures chase across the ceiling

As I try to sleep at night

There's a voice inside my darkness

Laughing at the life I've lost

She's no girl on pills in limbo

She's a woman on a train

With her senses sharpened by the warning cold

She brings me to memory

She flashes her lights, her mission bites

She flashes her lights

Across my desert mind (still no change in me)

(She's) no girl on pills in limbo

She's here...

The woman on a train...

And I will speak no words but the truth for her to hear

Hold her close... but never dare

(She's) no girl on pills in limbo

She's a woman on a train

She's here

The woman on a train...

She will speak for us both

She will speak for us all

Till I learn to care...

She'll override my best intention

Attack my weak deception

A friend for life and after

I'll never catch her off her guard
