"After Winter"

His star whispers weakly,

"How can you be so cold?

Take me home

'Cause after winter

I don't want to go all alone"

Break me down, again

I put a contract out on your face

(On your eyes)

You've hurt me for the last time

I'm going away tonight

Fly away, tonight

His star speaks so clearly,

"I don't want to play

All your games

You're throwing fuel on the fire

Now my desire is burned away"

'Cause waking up in your arms

Is not the way it used to be

When we were young and in love

(Waking up)

Now we need some help from above

(Without love)

And you're not coming back

Go away tonight

Fly away, tonight
