You're certainly hopeless, waiting for something to change
What is holding you back?
What is keeping you out of this game?
Is it the fear of finding out that you are to blame?
The fear of never rising above the shame?

It's getting late and I'm not responsible for the choices
you are making
The promises that you are breaking
I'm on your side
It's never been any other way
But I am tired of wasting my time

You're never too shy when it doesn't seem to go your way
And it's a kick in the face when you treat me like you do
I don't understand what you're going through when you won't talk to me
But I am trying to make this right
Well, I guess my blood runs thicker than yours this time

It's getting late and I'm not responsible for the choices
you are making
The promises that you are breaking
I'm on your side
It's never been any other way
But I am tired of wasting my time

It's getting late and I'm not responsible for the choices
you are making
The promises that you are breaking
I'm on your side
It's never been any other way
But I am so tired of wasting my time
On you
