From the moment she came to this world she decided her dream had to come true she was ready to do anything to achieve what she felt be called

she was now inches starin at the shore and she looked at the stars for the first time everybody just told her her dream was a wasting of time to be loosing her mind she was kind of a wondering how to catch a falling star how to rearrange the world cos that was not the right one and so she looks out

out of the blue
she looks out
out of the blue

then she was planning nine she gave up and she went to the shore for the last time and she cried cos she thought she wouldve never been able to reach her sweet dream but the moon told her look at the stars they were all falling down to the ground but i caught all the wonderful lights now thats piercing the sky elevating your mind
and so she looks out
out of the blue
she looks out
out of the blue
mother has a dream not impossible now catch it with a hand that impossible star she will realize she can do all the things she can see, she desreves, she believes in

out of the blue
she looks out
out of the blue
