Fiery Furnaces "Smelling Cigarettes"

Very much vodka and too much tequila: those are the ways I learned to deal. Across against the light and the sleet scalds my sight, stunned I stayed put and a billboard truck runs over my foot. So things are really hopping; and my unemployment's stopping; and my kitty cat's copping; and I need to forget. So I go to the window and smell a cigarette.

Now I'm in the clutches of my crutches: I'm laid up, and I sip from my cup, and I look outside. And I see Christopher Hyde-who just got divorced, and there's a restraining order enforced-going in his ex-wife's garage. I'm just drunk enough to open the window, yell out gruff:

 \tilde{A} ¢ \tilde{A} , \hat{A} € \tilde{A} , \hat{A} ∞Don't you key that brand-new Camry. \tilde{A} ¢ \tilde{A} , \hat{A} € \tilde{A} , \hat{A} ∏ And he gave me the cursor, \tilde{A} ¢ \tilde{A} , \hat{A} € \tilde{A} , \hat{A} ∞Damn, \tilde{A} ¢ \tilde{A} , \hat{A} € \tilde{A} , \hat{A} ∏ returning to the spot he was, \tilde{A} ¢ \tilde{A} , \hat{A} € \tilde{A} , \hat{A} ∞Mind your own business you! \tilde{A} ¢ \tilde{A} , \hat{A} € \tilde{A} , \hat{A} ∏ And I wag my finger, \tilde{A} ¢ \tilde{A} , \hat{A} € \tilde{A} , \hat{A} ∞You're not doing what you're supposed to do. \tilde{A} ¢ \tilde{A} , \hat{A} € \tilde{A} , \hat{A} ∏

And then he's coming toward me, and I took a swig of my tequila 'cause it made me feel a little nervous as he started across against the light: but he didn't look to his right as he didn't stay put. And a billboard truck came and ran over his foot.

And the cops responding called out to me, \tilde{A} ¢ \tilde{A} , \hat{A} € \tilde{A} , \hat{A} @Hey is this your cat? \tilde{A} ¢ \tilde{A} , \hat{A} € \tilde{A} , \hat{A} @ \tilde{A} ¢ \tilde{A} , \hat{A} € \tilde{A} , \hat{A} @Yeah, but sometimes it forgets. Ah, wait a minute. I gonna come out there and smell a couple a cigarettes. \tilde{A} ¢ \tilde{A} , \hat{A} € \tilde{A} , \hat{A} []

Don't you hurry-worry with meâÃ,€Â¦
