

Fire Tonight "Sunderland"

Visit "Sunderland" on MotoLyrics.com sometimes i can feel it waiting in between my thoughts a vaguely threatening yet coming liquidation of the framework i have wrought these 23 or is it 4 years i have slowly built my defenses to the unbroken barrage of 26 years of confusion

the mental violence self inflicted is not typically born of masochism but rather from inability to control this, control this separation of reality from monsters hiding in my mind and feasting on my family anxiety and paranoia are skills on my resume they visit me to help me make decisions almost every day
yet continuity has kept her distance from the fabrics edge
the evidence my cashmere sanity is unraveling thread by thread

but i am fine

they're putting something in my pills to try to break into my brain
i know that it sounds crazy please believe me, i am not insane
don't talk so loud their evil minions hide in the shadows everywhere just because you cannot see them doesn't mean they are not there

Visit Fire Tonight page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.