summer swallowed us whole;
we waited for you to come around every word you wrote down, we read it over to know... would they believe us now? there's no shame like no sound from sources hits close to home everything that we've found says make your own destiny but you're unaware that you should be scared maybe you'll learn from mistake that we make we're not waiting forever we know you'll never be there we're not waiting forever, but if you get out we'll see you there you're not awake as I'm aware maybe we had all you figured absolutely wrong there's been a misunderstanding we've had all along you can read about it when we're gone
