Grey Skies

The sun beats down, I stare at the ground
You lift up my chin, but my depression sets in
My memory burns away with the sun
I close my eyes until the shadows all run
So go on without me, I'm falling back

And I don't care what they say anymore
I'm inspired by grey skies
You can tell it's me when you see my ill at ease
And once more, the moon will relieve me

I rouse in the night when nobody knows
With the moon at my side I'm like a superhero
I know the planets must give to the sun's gravity
But between you and I, I think they agree with me

And I don't care what they say anymore
I'm inspired by grey skies
You can tell it's me when you see my ill at ease
And once more, the moon will relieve me

At summer's end, I can finally breathe
Falling leaves please fall on me
Just go on without me, I'm falling back

And I don't care what they say anymore
I'm inspired by grey skies
You can tell it's me when you see my ill at ease
And once more, the moon will relieve me
