Closed in your fear
Avoiding it to fade away
Keeping an stupid existence
And with your decadence going on the way
Looking somebody in the mirror
Whose life is just a mistake
And recognising yourself
Not interested on helping him again

Sprinkled
In your room
Just like one piece
Of furniture more
Forgetting about the world
Which is behind the door
Kidnapped for the dreams who calms
The overriding distress down

You feel the void
You feel weak yourself
You feel the void
You feel weak yourself

Closed in your fear
Avoiding it to fade away
Keeping an stupid existence
And with your decadence going on the way
Looking somebody in the mirror
Whose life is just a mistake
And recognising yourself
Not interested on helping him again

You feel the void
You feel weak yourself
You feel the void
You feel weak yourself
You feel the void
You feel weak yourself
You feel frustrated

Without a friend to talk

Without a shaft of light in your words
Without any reasons
For being alive or dead

Without a friend to talk

Without a shaft of light in your words
Without any reasons
For being alive or dead
You don't care about the future
And about your past
You don't want to remind it
Anymore
And with a present
That doesn't appeal
To you with passion
You don't worry
About your life's flame
Would come to an end

Sprinkled
In your room
Of furniture more
Kidnapped for the dream who calms

The overriding (distress down)
The overriding (distress down)
The overriding (distress down)
The overriding (distress down)
Overriding (distress down)
Overriding (distress down)
Overriding
Down
(Distress down)
