You
You fill up my head
With your tender honey words
Let 'em drip from your mouth
Try to make me believe you won't leave
That you won't shut me out
But I know
In your heart you're already gone
Okay, yea, I'll play along
I knew from the start
When the leaving time comes
You'll try to be kind
You're still breaking my heart

You
You raven haired girl
Captured you attention for awhile
So I thought you're not the kind to be caught
But as long as I'm strong
And I keep you in smiles you might linger
You just might think it through
Might tell yourself
He's not the kind who would turn a blind eye
When the chips are down
He'll be standing his ground next to you

You
You start looking right through me
Like some old B movie
The acting's so lame
The key to the scene on that screen
Is that you're in between
Him and me
Alright now who's it gonna be?
Well I've got the love you need
I know in my heart
But I can't deceive myself anymore
He's got the love you want

You, Oh You, You
