If I tell anyone who you are they will run
And will keep running.
One day you're fine and the next you're gone
Multiply it by infinity and take it to the deep of forever,
And you still have,
And you still have,
Every bone six feet under the ground
I've seen it in silence,
Now they are crosses
Now they are crosses
Buried in green.....

Buried in green
But they will run again....
They will run again
From you....
From you....
From you...

[But they will run]
If i tell anyone who you are they will run
They'll keep running
