Against the tides, of fallen souls,
Their flag stood rightfully.
Their names lie traced in blood,
What they gave away, set us free.

They fight from dawn to dusk,
protecting our freedom.
They sign their lives away,
we look away, and carry on.

We'll never see, the end after the fall.
We'll never know,

To leave, and set their children free,
Heroic spirit never dies,
This time we rise courageously,
We end the reign of enemy.

We'll never see, the end after the fall.
We'll never know, the truth of it all.
We will never give in, as we defend our right.
We will never back down, as we continue to fight.
(As we continue to fight)

We'll never see, the end after the fall.
We'll never know, the truth of it all.
We will never give in, as we defend our right.
We will never back down, as we continue to fight.
