I've tried my best to find a reason why
I ought to leave our love behind
No matter how I worry, you defy
Every fear I thought would never die.
Chorus
I should've known by now
'Cause you love has never let me down.
Through every stormy night your guiding light
Has brought me safely home.
I should've known.
There have been times I know I did not trust
'Cause I always fell for every lie
But now I put my faith in the two of us
It's almost too good to believe, but I'll try.
Chorus
I should've known by now
'Cause you love has never let me down.
Through every stormy night your guiding light
Has brought me safely home.
I should've known.
I know the tides will change.
I know the stars will fall.
I know a true love can conquer all.
