"Little Pink House"

Lilacs and tiger-lilies won't be enough for me when you're gone
Hollyhocks, gladiolas, will never replace this face

In your little pink house with the blue polka-dots
I learned what I was and what I was not,
Supposed to be
Supposed to be
Supposed to be
Supposed to be

Bleeding heart, lily-of-the-valley
Snapdragon, rambling rose
You'll never make it in this world
If you're not one of those

In your little pink house, with the blue polka-dots

I learned what I was and what I was not
Supposed to be
Supposed to be
Supposed to be
Supposed to be

Diadem, orange sensation
Diorama, bell canto,
Baby-Lune, and princess too,
But you were the one I chose

In your little pink house, with the blue polka-dots
I learned what I was and what I was not
Supposed to be
Supposed to be
Supposed to be
Supposed to be
