i'll stop
stabbing
when you stop screaming

it's dropping to the terrain at my feet palm trees are my only company on this beach star crossed lovers obsess alluring dreams of touching starry skies ill love you until my last breathe each speck of sand fills in each footstep along the shore as every tide rolls in; every one takes its toll the salt in this water is nauseating keeping me trapped and running in circles on this beach star crossed lovers obsess alluring dreams of touching starry skies a quick glance over my shoulder reveals a number only seen in the movies chardes of glass, and a decayed piece of parchment half buried that reads:
'you cured me of my foolish obsession with love' i'll love you until my last breath takes you from me
