it was a summer night and i was sleeping the moon was out, my head was beaming i looked at my dreams like they were gold amazing feelings draw within me all my conflicts slip beneath me like the spirit of a song or like the feeling of a lover in your arms but ever since that night and after the dreams i had i can't recapture and it brings me down so low the more i search the less i find the more i look the more i'm blind like a melody so young hanging on the tip of the tongue

if i wait long enough now
will you come to me
will you come to me
so far away, but right beside me
will you follow me home when we first met we were so young we played out past the setting sun in a world of make believe wooden forts and magic beans silly thoughts and silly dreams how we said we'd never change but somehow life got in the way but way back then and even now i still love you i don't know how you got magic in your eyes and underneath our conversation in our thoughts our contemplations there's a feeling left unsung hanging on the tip of the tongue

will you come to me
will you come to me

will you come to me
will you come to me

cuz, if i wait long enough now
will you come to me
will you come to me
will you come to me
will you follow me home
