You worry too much of what could be Of this mess you're in you'll find strength within you think of all the things she can see you can't talk it out but you can make her believe this night we have a chance to make it right we need this can't you see we're dying here this night we have a chance to make it right can't you see we're dying here

i can't find the words to say don't look back now don't look back now she wouldn't get it anyway you let them put in all their advice don't you listen their just missing the point that you were her to say
