When I was a young girl in Leyte
My dresses were all hand-me-downs and scrubs
I'd see the people smile, and I would sing for them
How happy they all seemed when I would dance

We lived a stone's throw from the palace
A simple country girl who had a dream
Ladies passing by of better class than I
How much it meant to me
To be like these

Is it a sin to love too much?
Is it a sin to care?
I'd do it all for you
How can it be unfair?
I know that when my number's up
When I am called by God above
Don't have my name inscribed into the stone
Just say, "Here lies love!" "Here lies love!" Here
lies love!"
Just say, "Here lies love!" "Here lies love!" Here
lies love!"

The most important things are love and beauty
It doesn't matter if you're rich or poor
To prosper and to fly
A basic human right
The feeling in your heart that you're secure

Is it a sin to love too much?
Is it a sin to care?
I'd do it all for you
How can it be unfair?
I know that when my number's up
When I am called by God above
Don't have my name inscribed into the stone
Just say, "Here lies love!" "Here lies love!" Here
lies love!"
Just say, "Here lies love!" "Here lies love!" Here
lies love!"
I know that when my number's up
When I am called by God above

Don't have my name inscribed into the stone
Just say, "Here lies love!" "Here lies love!" Here
lies love!"
Just say, "Here lies love!" "Here lies love!" Here
lies love!"
