And you know you wish you were someone else
You don't have to impress anyone out there
And the fact that you are not one of the elite doesn't mean a thing

Just ignore all of this
You should try to keep your head
But you sell yourself...
But you sell yourself...
Everything you have known will come to this
And the last time we saw you were still afraid
Afraid to be what you want to be anyway
So get away...

Just ignore all of this
You should try to keep your head
But you sell yourself...
But you sell yourself...

What's the use in the truth, if you can't tell a lie?
