I think I'm sick of second best, and silver medals.
Another trophy of regret that says I could have done better.

I wish that I could just restart, with more momentum
With better luck and better cards, and my best intentions.

All I know is I should, I should have thought things over.
And all I know is I could, I could have done this better.

I'm jumping the gun,
Taking the wheel,
Fighting wounds that just won't heal
And I'm trusting you, faith will make a way.
I'm holding my breath,
I'm chasing a dream
I'm out on a limb you're there with me,
And I'm trusting you
Faith will make a way
(Hard to believe it)

And these old habits they die hard
This friction finds me weak
I think I've taken them too hard
These addictions always bleed.
All I know is I should, I should have thought things over
And all I know is I could, I could have done this better

I'm jumping the gun,
I'm taking the wheel,
Fighting wounds that just won't heal
And I'm trusting you, faith will make a way.
I'm holding my breath,
I'm chasing a dream
I'm out on a limb you're there with me,
And I'm trusting you
Faith will make a way

I am out on the edge,
And I am taking a stand,
And I know you'll catch me when I fall

I am out on the edge,
And I am taking a stand,
And I know you'll catch me when I fall

I'm jumping the gun,
I'm taking the wheel,
Fighting wounds that just won't heal
And I'm trusting you, faith will make a way.
I'm holding my breath,
I'm chasing a dream
I'm out on a limb you're there with me,
And I'm trusting you
Faith will make a way

I'm holding my breath,
I'm chasing a dream
I'm out on a limb you're there with me,
And I'm trusting you
Faith will make a way

Hard to believe it,
Hard to believe it.
And I'm trusting,
Hard to believe it.
