You say that clever's all that makes you, but I know you're clearly faking it.
You say that looks are what will sell you, but now are you really making it?
It will all come to you when the world comes crashing down, just give it time and find you're running from your life.

Gather all your thoughts let's get this straight,
put the piece together before it's too late,
you dug yourself a hole so deep
you can't even reach.

I can see everything in between,
and I can't stop this unraveling so pull the string a little tighter so you can hide in your disguise.

Gather all your thoughts let's get this straight,
put the piece together before it's too late,
you dug yourself a hole so deep
you can't even reach.
(You're all I know)
You seem to think you've got it all, really hun you need to figure out, (You're all I know)
that your not what it's all about,
I said it right this time.
