

Isengard

"The Crownless Majesty"

Visit "The Crownless Majesty" on MotoLyrics.com

Eclipse of the morning star
The white snow was gently falling
Ablaze from the dragon's scar
The kingdom was lost forever

A moment lost in time
Behold the newborn child

As the years past by
The chosen one arose
To reclaim his father's realm

A war fought to claim the throne
A vision beyond your dreams
They honored the sacred stone
The brave ones who died that day

The crownless majesty will rise again

A glimpse of the dawning
The pilgrims have found their freedom

With pride and with honour
They marched into victory

The light from the sunrise
Is watching the earth still bleeding
A cold wind in mourning
His majesty has come

As nightfall comes to an end
The old moon is filled with silence
A wasteland so far away
The kingdom is whole again

Visit Isengard page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.